Thankfully, your search network ads for retail clients can have handy extensions like Call Extensions and Location Extensions to provide the consumer with just what they need. Pick the right keywords

More than simply picking keywords with a high volume, you'll want to pick keywords that are relevant to both your business client's services and the promotion their campaign is based on. That way, the ads are displaying for highly-relevant searches, and are more likely to gain clicks and conversions. Picking keywords that are relevant to the business, yet not to the specific campaign, will simply waste your advertising budget as the consumers are looking for more specific results.

Don't skimp on the photography

When it comes to advertising campaigns for retail businesses, imagery is everything. Consumers will want to know what the clothes look like before coming in to visit the store location, so make gorgeous photography a priority when establishing a campaign. Make use of the display network's image capabilities to gain the best conversion results from your images and copy.
